International Paper conducts Box 101 classes four times annually to provide our valued customers with a closer look at corrugated. This 2 day interactive training session will help you better understand how paper made from renewable resources is transformed into fiber based products people depend on every day.

Our instructors have developed a very engaging hands-on approach to ensure you gain the most from your time in our class. You will learn more about the boxes your company depends on while interacting with our subject matter experts and touring a box plant.

Participants are responsible for their own travel, hotel and transportation. All tuition, materials, and on-site meals are provided by IP along with a group dinner on the first night of the session.

To register, please contact your International Paper sales representative.
